

Questions Tests topic 2.1

1. In what year was the RSChS system created in our country?
2. What federal law defines the norms and rules for the protection of citizens of the Russian Federation in emergency situations?
3. The situation in a certain territory (water area) or an object that has developed as a result of an accident, disaster, natural hazard, natural or other event is called
4. A set of measures taken in advance and aimed at minimizing the risk of emergencies is called
5. A dangerous man-made incident that creates a threat to human life and health at an object, a certain territory, leading to the destruction of buildings, structures, equipment, vehicles and disruption of the production or transport process, as well as causing damage to human health and (or) environment is called...
6. A sudden, fleeting event that entailed human casualties, damage to human health, destruction or destruction of objects and other material values, as well as causing serious damage to the environment is called
7. What emergencies are not present in terms of spreading speed?
8. What is the scale of the emergency?
9. Does not apply to medical consequences
10. They do not distinguish by severity
11. Damaging factors as a result of the direct action of excess pressure are called ...
12. Persons who have suffered material losses, moral damage during an emergency, as well as those who have mental and psychosomatic disorders of a non-psychotic nature are called
13. Management bodies, forces and means whose powers include the solution of issues of protecting the population and territories from emergencies are called
14. RSChS consists of....
15. What mode of operation of the RSChS is not distinguished?
16. The forces and means of the RSChS are divided into

17. A set of measures to prevent and eliminate the consequences of emergencies has stages

18. At what stage are the tasks of emergency protection of the population and reduction of the impact of damaging factors solved?

19. The state multidisciplinary head institution of the disaster medicine service of the Ministry of Health of the Russian Federation of a special type, which performs the functions of the governing body of the VSMC and the disaster medicine service of the Ministry of Health of Russia, is called

20. The main mobile medical and diagnostic formation of the VTsMK is called