

«Just what the doctor ordered» (The profession guarding our health)

The profession of a doctor

A doctor is a specialist who has mastered one or more areas in the field of medicine, who diagnoses and treats human diseases, saves people in critical situations, relieves the patients' condition, gives psychological support and carries out disease prevention.

Relevance of the medical profession

- Undoubtedly, a doctor is one of the most noble and socially significant professions, since the human life sometimes lies in doctor's hands.
- People will always need medical care, no matter the circumstances. Factors such as an aging population, an upsurge in chronic diseases and health inequalities are leading to an increasing need for medical services.
- Doctors play a crucial role in the early diagnosis and treatment of infectious diseases, including those that can cause pandemics. These emergencies often occur due to climate change and therefore highlight the need for qualified medical professionals to combat these health threats.

Future development prospects

- In general, the medical profession will always be promising and demanded in the long term. The desire to overcome incurable diseases gives impetus to the development of new medical technologies.
- Such circumstances open up new opportunities for diagnosis and treatment and require qualified doctors to use them.

The areas of employment for the medical profession

Doctor's specialties

General practitioner

Treats general diseases

Ophthalmologist

Treats eye disorders

Surgeon

Performs all operations

Obstetrician

Helps with the delivery of babies

Cardiologist

Treats cardiovascular diseases

Psychotherapist

Treats mental disorders

Neurosurgeon

Performs operations on the brain

Dentist

Deals with dental problems

Where can a doctor work?

Hospitals and clinics

Providing medical care to patients in various conditions

Research companies

Researching in the field of medicine and healthcare

Medical universities

Teaching future doctors and other healthcare professionals

Army and Navy

Providing medical assistance to military personnel

Disease control centers

Participating in the development of health policy and public health programs

Why did I choose the profession of a doctor?

- Medicine is a complex and constantly evolving field that requires a deep understanding of the human body and its functions. I am particularly interested in the opportunity to conduct medical scientific research and contribute to improving people's health and well-being.
- In addition, there are doctors in my family and in my country whom I especially admire, as they are not only well-versed in the field of medicine, but also empathic and selfless. It was their example that helped me to finally decide on my future profession.
- I've always been passionate about helping others. Medicine provides an excellent opportunity to constantly interact with people, help them and save them.

References to sources

- <https://ru.wikipedia.org/wiki/%D0%92%D1%80%D0%B0%D1%87>
- <https://dpoaps.ru/blog/samye-vostrebovannye-professii-v-medicine/>
- https://synergy.ru/about/education_articles/medicizina/plyusyi_i_minusyi_professii_vracha
- <https://dariastrashkopprofession.blogspot.com/p/blog-page.html>
- https://www.unipage.net/ru/profession_doctor
- <https://cyberleninka.ru/article/n/perspektivy-professionalizatsii-rossiyskih-vrachey-v-reformiruyuschemsya-obschestve>
- <https://miac.orb.ru/presscenter/news/150398/>
- <https://proforientator.ru/publications/articles/professiya-vrach.html>

Conclusion

- The medical profession is a highly qualified profession that plays a vital role in maintaining the health and well-being of society.
- Being a doctor means not only having extensive medical knowledge and skills, but also showing an example of an ideal selfless person who is ready to sacrifice himself for the health of the patients.
- In addition, professional doctors are the driving force behind progress in the field of healthcare. They constantly strive to improve treatment methods and fight for healthy living conditions. It is for such doctors that the future lies.

